DATES FOR NATIONALS

Washington Players Report at Chicago March 5.

EXHIBITION GAMES ARRANGED

Club Will Play New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals in Texas and Then Waco, Wichita, Kansas City, Springfield, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus and Louisville.

Nationals' Preliminary Schedule.

March 22 to March 23—At Galveston.
Four games with Galveston club—At Galveston.
Two games with St. Louis Nationals—At Houston.
Two games with New York Nationals—At Dallas.
March 29 and 30—At Waco.
April 1 and 2—At Wichita, Kans.
April 3, 4, and 5—At Kansas City.
April 6—At Springfield, Ill.
April 7 and 8—At Indianapolis.
April 9—At Cincinnati.
April 10—At Columbus.
April 11 and 12—At Louisville.
April 13—Arrive at Washington.

With the opening of the championship season just four months off, Joe Cantillon has completed arrangements for the Southern training trip of the Nationals, and when the contracts are sent out all players will be ordered to report at Chicago on March 5.

Caution closed for most of the exhibition games immediately after the end of last season, but decided not to announce them until he submitted them to President Tom Noyes.

President Noyes gave the dates out last night, and took occasion to deny the stories that have been coming out of Chicago to the effect that Ben Johnson lost no opportunity at the league meeting to antagonize the Washington club.

The report that Johnson had dropped President Noyes from the rules committee and substituted Charles Comiskey to show his bitter feeling toward the local club was without foundation. As a matter of fact, President Noyes was made chairman of the rules committee, but asked to be excused, as he intends to be away on a pleasure trip when the committee meets to decide upon recommendations to make to the league at the spring meeting.

Mr. Noyes said that a spirit of satisfaction and harmony pervaded the whole meeting, and if any of the magnates have a grievance against Johnson it was not shown at the sessions.

Joe Cantillon plans to have the players meet him in Chicago on Thursday, March 5, when the party will leave for the training ground at Galveston. The club is scheduled to arrive at Galveston the following Saturday, and light practice will probably be started that day. Four games will be played with the Galveston team, but no dates will be decided upon until Cantillon has an opportunity to get the Washington players into fairly good shape. Before leaving Galveston for good the team will go to Houston for two games with the St. Louis Cardinals, and to Dallas for two games with the New York Giants.

On March 29 the whole squad will start from Galveston for the trip through the Middle West, stopping at Waco, Wichita, Kansas City, Springfield, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, and Louisville. The club is scheduled to reach here on April 13. It is expected the American League season will open the following day.

Cantillon has not yet decided upon the number of men he will take South, but several of the recruits will probably be sent to minor league clubs before the training trip starts.

Cantillon will come East for the league meeting in New York in February and present to the club the list of recruits. Some of these men have been ball players, though O'Loughlin never made his mark on the diamond except as an umpire.

They tell an interesting story of the first meeting between "Silk" and Johnson, the man who has been the center of so many stormy scenes in the National League. It was down in the old Atlanta League several years ago, when O'Loughlin was unknown to fame.

Johnson was a player, and one day he objected to a decision so forcibly that "Silk" had to "lay off" for a couple of weeks. Several years later these two erstwhile enemies became famous as big league ball players, and in 1905 they bossed the world's championship series at Chicago.

This list probably will be revised, as one or two of the leagues are new and at present not so thoroughly organized. Some of these men have been ball players, though O'Loughlin never made his mark on the diamond except as an umpire.

needs much strengthening in the pitching department. Granted that Mathewson is still a high-class twirler, it is thought that Combs and Taylor have both seen their best days, while Ames, because of his usual erratic work, cannot be depended upon as an effective fixture on the slab. It is also the opinion of experts that the New York Nationals are weak at second base as young Doyle, who filled the position last season, showed that he lacked experience and was not a quick thinker. The fact that McGraw tried to make a deal for Second Baseman Huggins, of Cincinnati, would seem to indicate that the New York manager does not feel sure that Doyle can fill the bill next year. It is probable that McGraw will try to make several other deals between now and spring, in one of which Roger Bresnahan may figure. But with Bowerman gone it is safe to say that Bresnahan will not be traded unless a first-class backstop can be obtained in exchange.

Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, says that he fears Fielder Jones, his capable manager, has retired permanently from baseball. In case Jones sticks to his plan, it is possible that George Davis, the star shortstop of the Sox, will be made the team's leader. Davis is a steady going player who, in spite of nearly eighteen years of service in the big leagues, is still able to keep up his end. If Davis is not Comiskey's selection, "Jiggs" Donohue, the scrappy first baseman, may be the new manager of the Sox.

ROCHESTER HOME OF UMPIRES

City Boasts of O'Loughlin, Klem, and Carpenter as Arbiters.

Many of the Bravest of the Brave Winter in the Town Up New York State.

Many towns and cities have been famous for producing ball players, either through the number of recruits sent out or the quality of a few, but Rochester, N. Y., stands alone as the umpire city. In various other ways Rochester has acquired a reputation as one of the busiest inland cities in the country, but the production of diamond arbiters gives it a unique distinction.

First and foremost on the list is Francis J. O'Loughlin, the inimitable "Silk," who, more than any other man, has made Rochester famous by his baseball and political exploits and his wonderful "Strike" talk.

In Rochester's list of "survivors" are seven "Bills," and among them are the National League officials William Klem and William Carpenter. It speaks well for the good citizens of Rochester that so many brave men have made the city their home, for it takes a brave man to spend the winter in the town up New York State.

Rochester will be more famous than ever in 1908, as seventeen of her sons have already signed to umpire in various leagues next season. Most of them now reside there, while others have called the city their home at various times.

Following is a list of the "active" members and the leagues in which they will officiate in 1908: Francis J. O'Loughlin, American League; William Klem, National League; William Carpenter, National League; William Sullivan, American Association; William Sheller, South Atlantic League; William David, Empire State League; William Culligan, Empire State League; Dan Pfenner, Southern League; Dan Fitzsimmons, Cotton State League; Maurice P. Danahy, Three-Eye League; James Ryan, International League; Frank Newhouse, Wisconsin State League; Felix Lynch, Canadian League; Tom Robson, Canadian League; Joseph Courcenen, Northern Copper League.

Retired—Sharon L. Sherman, Eastern League; Leo McCarthy, New York State League; George Stone, American Association; Irving Hildebrand, Virginia State League; Charles Bricker, Empire State League.

Deceased—George E. Weidman, National League. This list probably will be revised, as one or two of the leagues are new and at present not so thoroughly organized. Some of these men have been ball players, though O'Loughlin never made his mark on the diamond except as an umpire.

JOHNSON TO CHANGE OFFICE.

American League President to Have Headquarters in New York.

New York, Dec. 14.—President Farrell, of the New York Americans, returned from the American League meeting in Chicago to-day. He said that there was no friction, and that he was well satisfied with the proceedings.

While Mr. Farrell declined to discuss the matter, it is understood because of Manager Joe Cantillon's open hostility to President Johnson, the Washington club was dropped from the league's board of directors. President Johnson, by the way, will probably transfer his headquarters to this city before the scheduled meeting to be held here in February.

Billy Ernst Under Arrest.

New York, Dec. 14.—William, better known as "Billy" Ernest, the former champion welter-weight, was held yesterday by Magistrate Nauman, in the Myrtle avenue court, in $200 bail for examination on December 16 on a charge of assault.

RUTT AND STOL WIN

German-Holland Team Victorious in Six-day Race.

A ONE-MILE SPRINT DECIDES

In Dash to Settle Leadership, Walter Rutt Outdistances Joe Fogler, Rider McDonald, Injured by Fall, Dies in Hospital—Georget and Dupree Third in the Final Race.

New York, Dec. 14.—Walter Rutt defeated Joe Fogler in the final one mile sprint to decide the tie for the leadership at the end of the six-day team cycle race in Madison Square Garden to-night, the race going to the German-Holland team of Rutt and Stol, with a score of 2,312 miles 5 laps, Fogler and Moran being second.

Dupree defeated Harry Downing and J. Frank Galvin in the sprint to decide third, fourth, and fifth places, Georget and Dupree being third, Downing and Downey fourth, and Galvin and Wiley fifth. All three teams had scored 2,312 miles 4 laps.

Floyd Krebs defeated Walter Bardgett in the sprint to settle sixth and seventh places, Krebs and Vanderstuyft being sixth and Logan and Bardgett seventh, each team having made 2,312 miles 3 laps.

Walter Rutt appeared for the German-Holland team of Rutt and Stol, and Fogler went out of the intercity team of Fogler and Moran. All of the ties for positions were divided into one-mile sprinting matches, which were run under regular rules, the contestants having to take their chances so far as falls, punctured tires, or other accidents. After the different ties had been decided each rider carried his national flag, with each rider carrying his national flag.

In the sprint to decide the relative positions of the second division teams Marty Downing rode for the reconstructed team of Downing and Downey, J. Frank Galvin rode for the Farmer and Messenger Boy team of Galvin and Wiley, while Victor Dupree did the sprinting for the French team of Georget and Dupree.

Walter Bardgett represented the Irish-American team of Logan & Bardgett, against Floyd Krebs, of the German-American-Belgian team of Krebs & Vanderstuyft, in the struggle to decide which would capture sixth prize.

In addition to the bonus and expenses paid to the riders, there were seven cash prizes: $1,500 for first; $1,000 for second; $750 for third; $500 for fourth; $350 for fifth; $250 for sixth; and $150 for seventh.

For members of the first team there will most likely be some theatrical engagements for several weeks following the ride, which will give home-trainer access to the first prize.

During the day there was little to interest the spectators, as all of the teams were content to wait for the one-mile sprinting matches to determine the final positions in the contest.

At 10:02 o'clock last year's record—2,222 miles 2 laps—was passed. Johann Stol was leading at the time.

Urban MacDonald Dies.

News reached Madison Square Garden to-night that Urban MacDonald had died at the New York Hospital at 7:30 o'clock. He tumbled over the fence on the Twenty-sixth street stretch of the track Friday morning, landing on the floor about six feet below, in front of the arena box.

MacDonald was twenty-two years old, married, and was born in Newfoundland. Before becoming a professional cyclist, he worked as a telephone tester. He was a member of the Tiger Wheelmen, of New York City, and was one of the best known road riders of this vicinity until he turned professional to enter the 1906 six-day race, with A. Charles Seale, of New York, as his partner. They withdrew from the contest during the first day. This year he rode at the Salt Lake City track and did well in handicap events. He was teamed in this year's race with Iver Lawson, who won the world's international professional sprinting championship at London in 1904.

After MacDonald's injury it was not thought at first he would need to be taken to a hospital, but he was taken to the New York Hospital a few hours later. On Friday night a report reached the garden that MacDonald was getting along so well that he would probably be able to see the finish of the race. He died from a rupture of the intestines.

As had been expected, the driving rain and wind had its effect on the attendance, but there were between ten and eleven thousand spectators in the garden when five minutes before the official end of the race, at 11 o'clock, a pistol shot was fired as a signal for all of the racers except those selected to represent the two leaders to leave the track.

BENNING SLOW TO PAY.

Owners and Jockeys Are Complaining About Not Receiving Checks.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 14.—The management of the Benning race track is being severely criticized here for its slow payment of jockeys and owners. The jockeys and owners are complaining about not receiving checks for winnings during the fall meeting at the Washington course.

Although the Benning meeting closed two weeks ago, the money due for races won or to jockeys for riding has not yet been received. According to the turf followers here, it is customary for the checks to be sent out immediately after a meeting, and those to whom money is due are especially disappointed because many of the stables have experienced poor financial success thus far this year.

With feed bills due, owners are hoping that within the next few days they will receive the checks which they expected a week ago.

AUTO CLUB REDEEMS BONDS.

New Yorkers Spring Surprise by Taking in $20,000 of Mortgages.

NAVY STRONG AT ROWING.

Annapolis May Have Three Crews at Poughkeepsie Next Year.

Annapolis, Dec. 14.—The Navy will be represented in the Intercollegiate Association rowing regatta on the Hudson course next June despite reports to the contrary. Instead of the midshipmen having one crew, a "varsity eight," there, as last year, the chances are strongly in favor of two "varsity crews, an eight and a four, representing the blue and gold. It is not outside the bounds of reasonable hope to look for the presence of a freshman eight, too.

The Navy oarsmen's experience at Poughkeepsie last year was such as to create the desire to go again, and there never has been, so far as can be ascertained, any reason for supposing that the midshipmen's trip would not be repeated. The embryo admirals are not the kind to quit just because they failed to cross the finishing line as soon as Cornell and Columbia. The Navy oarsmen are not likely to rest until they have won the championship at Poughkeepsie. It's a hard way to have of snapping their fingers at adversity and rising, eager and fresh to the next occasion. The midshipmen are real sports and will spend their last cent to get the championship that the Highland course represents. So they will be at Poughkeepsie next season.

OLYMPIC TRY-OUTS PLANNED

Aspirants for American Team Will Be Given Test.

Thirty-seven Events on Programme. Committee Will Raise $50,000 to Defray Team's Expenses.

The executive committee of the American Olympic games committee, which met recently in New York, decided to hold two Olympic try-outs on Saturday, June 6, 1908, one in the East and one in the West. All the events on the Olympic programme, with the exception of the marathon run and ten-mile walk, will be held on that date.

There are thirty-seven events all told, which include short, middle distance, and long runs, hurdles, high and broad jumps, hammer and shot events, discus, javelin, swimming, and wrestling. No prizes will be given in the try-outs, but a diploma will be awarded to those finishing first, second, and third.

The members of the American team will go representing no athletic club, university, or other institution, but exclusively as members of the American Olympic team. The committee decided that the services of a professional trainer would be dispensed with.

The committee recommended that the finance committee raise a sum of $50,000 to defray the expenses of the team to London, and reported that the A. A. U. had subscribed $50 to the fund. In addition to representation in fencing, skating, golfing, tennis, cycling, archery, and automobile, it was decided to sound each division of the A. A. U. through the medium of their secretaries.

MIDDIES ARE VICTORIOUS.

Win Initial Basketball Game from Catholics.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 14.—The Middies most successfully opened their first basketball season here this afternoon when they took the strong team of the Catholics, Cadet Corps of Washington into camp.

The visitors, who have the reputation of being one of the best in Washington, were confident, while the Middies, went into their first match game under similar circumstances as those surrounding the football game with Army recently.

Only a few minutes of play sufficed to show that Navy was the better team, and this was clearly borne out by the score of 38 to 12.

From the start the game was fast and well played. The Navy started the scoring by a pretty shot, scored a few minutes after play began. Darcy, whose goal passing from all sorts of impossible positions, was the feature of the game, followed this with a second score shortly after. He made eight goals, 15 points, seven of them being tossed into the basket during the first half.

Capt. Vanderhoof also made eight scores, five in the first and three in the second half. Twice during this and once during the first period Capt. Vanderhoof was given a trial for a free goal after fouls by the visitors, but failed to score.

For the visitors the work of Clark at center, and Cassana, right guard, was the feature. There was a goodly crowd present in the gymnasium to witness the contest and the result was rather gratifying to the Navy contingent. Line-up:

NO BAY WINDOWS ON PLATE.

Tim Hurst Gets Worst of Argument with "Bush Leaguer."

From the Providence Journal. Tim Hurst says the only time he was ever badly worsted in a spat with a player was in Chicago. "I was umpiring here," says Tim, "and a young bush leaguer came to the bat. I called a strike on him, and to my amazement he looked around in the utmost scorn."

"What's the matter with you?" he growled. "That one didn't come over!" "Well, you know the plate has corners," I replied with dignity, thinking I would give him a cut for being fresh. "Yes," he snapped back, "but they don't have bay windows!"

Harvard Will Not Row Columbia.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 14.—Harvard has refused to row Columbia on the Harlem in return for the contest which Columbia won on the Charles River last season. Columbia is said to have another good crew, and the Crimson rowing authorities fear a defeat at the hands of Coach Rice's pupils.

AL MULLER IN FRONT

Proves Easy Winner of Crescent City Stakes.

GAIT TOO FAST FOR ANGELUS

Unable to Hold Flier Gelding After Top of Stretch Is Reached in the Feature of Card at Fair Grounds, Victory Makes Third Stake for Flier Stable This Season.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 14.—The Crescent City Stakes, worth $115 net value to the winner, and the feature of the card at the Fair Grounds, fell to Al Muller, W. H. Flier's speedy gelding, who led his field from the rise of the barrier until the finish.

Angelus, a maiden until several days ago, was the only one conceded a chance to beat the Flier animal, but he failed to finish in the money after chasing Al Muller until the top of the stretch. The victory of Al Muller to-day makes the third stake won by Flier this season, and having his animals to finish a close second in the other two.

Excepting the stake and a mile and seventy yards purse event, there was but little class in the card.
